Life Long Learning: Michael Maloney “Across the River: Murder at the Accomac”

Friday, August 8

2:00 pm

Fellowship Room

Join local author Michael Maloney for a presentation of his book Across the River: Murder at Accomac, a captivating exploration of a true crime story that rocked York County, Pennsylvania, on Decoration Day in 1881. On that fateful morning along the tranquil Susquehanna River, young Emily Myers was fatally shot by John Coyle, Jr., a man whose love turned lethal in the face of rejection. His shocking claim of innocence during his two trials sparked a fierce public outrage and dominated local headlines, raising questions about the justice system and the implications of the insanity plea. Through meticulous research, Across the River brings to life the characters, the courtroom drama, and the enduring impact of the crime.
